Chief, Dulles to Keep Basic U.S. Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has decided that no radical revision of American foreign policy is needed to meet the new Soviet political and economic offensive.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are determined to concentrate instead on getting from congress one new cold war weapon—authority to make long-range foreign aid pledges. It is by no means certain yet that they will make an all-out fight for this.

Red Statement On Prisoners' Fate Not Told

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 27 (AP)—The United Nations command refused today to disclose any information turned over by the communists Saturday on the fate of 2,720 U.N. prisoners of war, including 450 Americans.

United Nations command officers of the military armistice commission here said 12 translators were working full time to translate by late tomorrow from Korean to English the reports on each man as given by the reds.

A U. S. army spokesman at United Nations command headquarters in Tokyo said that he did not know whether the red information would be released in Japan or in Washington.

The 450 Americans included the name of air force Capt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., son of retired General James A. Van Fleet who commanded the wartime eighth army. Young Van Fleet's name was on the list turned over by the United Nations to the reds and on the returned list. However, the military armistice commission refused to report what the reds had scribbled beside his name.

Smylie Given Tribute In Moose Ceremonies

More than 400 members of the Royal Order of Moose returned to the 10 other Moose lodge communities in the state Sunday following a precedent-setting ceremonial honoring Gov. Robert E. Smylie and Moose Supreme Gov. Paul E. McCarville, Fort Dodge, Ia.

The occasion was the first of its kind in Moose history at which both the titular heads of a state and a fraternity were honored jointly. Sunday, plans to hold the spring conference of the order in Twin Falls were announced. Officers of the Idaho Moose association met at 8 a. m. Sunday at the Rogerson hotel. The annual sports carnival, consisting of bowling and pellet gun shooting, will be held here April 14 and 15.

Man Is Jailed On Negligent Driver Count

Herbert Meyer, 25, route 1, Twin Falls, was committed to jail Monday when he failed to pay a $50 fine and $3 costs after pleading guilty in Twin Falls police court to a charge of negligent driving. The court suspended his driver's license for 30 days.

Meyer was arrested following a traffic accident at 11:45 p. m. Sunday in the 400 block of main avenue south. A 1947 Plymouth driven by Meyer collided with a parked 1955 Chevrolet panel automobile owned by W. L. Rehner, 439 Main avenue south. Damage to the Plymouth was estimated at $300 and to the Chevrolet at $200.

Henry V. Harkins, Fairfield, was released from city jail Sunday on $250 bond and is scheduled to appear in Twin Falls justice court at 4 p. m. Wednesday to enter a plea to a charge of drunken driving. He was arrested at 1:50 a. m. Sunday by state and city police in the 600 block of Shoshone street.

Richard Seaman, 23, Rupert, was fined $50 each on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and public intoxication Saturday by Burley Police Judge Henry W. Tucker. Seaman's automobile hit a 1954 Buick driven by Jack Holland at 6:15 p. m. Friday and when Seaman fled, Holland chased him. Unable to catch up, Holland noted Seaman's license number and reported the incident to Burley police.

Drifting Snow Closes Schools

Pupils in Richfield didn't have to go to school Monday. Although no new snow has fallen in the area since Saturday, wind shifted the snow around and plugged the highways Sunday. Flows opened the roads during the night but by Monday morning the roads were closed again.

Highway officials decided Monday morning not to try to open the roads again, except in an emergency, until after the wind stops blowing. Meanwhile, the state highway district office at Shoshone reports two more inches of snow, coupled with wind and some drifting, at Fairfield. The highway to Fairfield from the highway through Carey and the Craters of the Moon. Light snow fell in various parts of the highway district reported. In most instances the snow was in the form of squalls.

FFA Judging Team of T. F. Wins Contest

FILER, Feb. 27—A team of Twin Falls FFA members placed first in the judging contest held Monday morning in conjunction with the swine sale at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds here.

Other FFA teams listed as winners in the annual purchased swine event were Castelford, second, and Buhl, third.

High-ranking individuals were Leonard Ridley, Gooding, first; Everett Schutte, Valley, second, and Ray Crawford, Twin Falls, third. The 4-H division of the judging was expected to be completed by about 3 p. m. Monday. The sale got under way at 1 p. m. Sale judge is Wade Wells, university of Idaho extension husbandman. Don Youtz is 4-H judging superintendent and Leslie Jackson superintendent of FFA judging.

Battle Looms On Primaries Expense Sum

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Sen. Thomas C. Hennings said today he will fight to make any new law governing campaign contributions and spending for federal office cover primaries as well as general elections.

The Missouri Democrat charged that a group of Democratic and Republican senators from "one-party" states appear to be joining forces in an attempt to rewrite his "honest elections" bill, which is now pending in the senate. He said they want to eliminate primaries from the bill's requirement.

Hennings' statement apparently was aimed at a bipartisan election bill which Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Tex., and Republican Minority Leader Charles McNair, Mo., introduced.

Death Claims W. T. Conant

JEROME, Feb. 27—William T. Conant, 82, retired farmer, died Monday morning at St. Benedict's hospital.

Born Oct. 26, 1873, in Paw Paw Grove, Ill., he married Sarah M. Conant on March 10, 1903, in The Dalles, Ore. The couple came to Filer from Nyssa, Ore., in 1915, later moving to Jerome in 1930. He was a member of the Filer lodge No. 55, AP and AM, and the Scottish rite. He had been a Mason since 1910. In addition to his widow, Mr. Conant is survived by one son, Ralph Conant, Fairbanks, Alaska; two daughters, Mrs. R. Lee Jerome, and Mrs. Harold Cedarholm, Filer; nine grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. One son preceded him in death.

The family requests no flowers. Funeral services are pending at White mortuary, Twin Falls.

Cars Driven by Two Doctors; Priest, Layman Crash on Hill

GOODING, Feb. 27—Automobiles driven by two doctors, a Catholic priest and a layman were involved in an accident at 3 p. m. Sunday on Johnson hill between Gooding and Fairfield. Five persons were hospitalized, two of the cars were demolished.

Injured were Dr. and Mrs. Marion Kerns, Fairfield; Mr. Donald Wells, Pocatello; and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Hagerman, Wendell. All are patients at the Gooding County Memorial hospital. Sheriff Allen Lawson, Fairfield, who investigated, said the cars driven by the doctors collided head-on during a blizzard while passing through a cut in a snowbank that permitted only one-way traffic. Shortly after the first accident one of the cars in the original crash was hit by a 1954 Oldsmobile driven by the Rev. Father William Orndy, Gooding, while the other car was hit by a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Everett Middlesworth, Gooding. Damage to the two late arrivals was slight—but damage to Dr. Kerns' 1955 Buick and Dr. Hagerman's 1955 Plymouth was "total," Sheriff Lawson said. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kerns were cut and bruised; Mrs. Wells, a passenger in Dr. Kerns' car, received a cut on her forehead. Dr. Hagerman received cuts and bruises and Mrs. Hagerman, a broken leg.

New Storm Centers Follow Death Route

A new storm center kicked up dust clouds in the Southwest today and raced along the path blazed by Saturday's killer winds and tornadoes.

U. S. weather forecasters did not expect a renewal of the week-end blast, which left at least 14 dead across the nation. However, weathermen predicted a clash with warmer air in the storm's push toward the Ohio valley. They warned of strengthening winds over a widespread area. More dust was expected in the Southwest, which weathered its worst dust storm of the season Friday and Saturday. The new dusters cut visibility to a mile and less in west Texas yesterday and ground-churning winds hit as high as 60 miles per hour in New Mexico.

In the Midwest, and particularly in southern Illinois, there was a major job of rebuilding to do. The little town of Summerfield, Ill., hardest hit by Saturday's twisters, lay in ruins. Most of its buildings were flattened or wrecked and hundreds of families in the town and surrounding St. Clair county were homeless.

The town's one standing church held services yesterday and residents said the peal of its bells was the "finest" sound we've heard in three days.

Damage estimates at Summerfield ranged from 1 million dollars to 2 1/2 million dollars and Gov. William Straton considered proclaiming it a disaster area. Volunteer crews, aided by air force men, pitched in today to start rebuilding. There were three dead at Summerfield and four more elsewhere in Illinois. The big storm was also blamed for two deaths each in Ohio, Oklahoma, and Missouri, and one in Texas.

The storm churned its way from Texas to New England before moving into eastern Canada. Serene weather followed in its wake, but violent weather caused trouble elsewhere in the nation.

State Traffic Toll Rises to 28 Fatalities

By The Associated Press

Idaho's 1956 highway accident toll rose to 28 Monday with the death of an Idaho Falls pedestrian and fatal automobile crashes near Lewiston, Ririe and Payette.

Born Oct. 26, 1873, in Paw Paw Grove, Ill., he married Sarah M. Conant on March 10, 1903, in The Dalles, Ore. The couple came to Filer from Nyssa, Ore., in 1915, later moving to Jerome in 1930. ### Automobile Hits Train in Jerome

JEROME, Feb. 27—Elmer Boyd, Hamilton, Miss., who is stationed at the Mountain Home airbase, escaped without injury when his 1955 Chevrolet ran into the side of a freight train near the depot here at 3 a. m. Sunday.

Sheriff James B. Burns said Boyd told him he didn't see the train until "too late to stop." Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $200. There was no damage to the freight car.

E. W. Fisher, Glenns Ferry, was engineer on the train, J. W. Stampfer, also Glenns Ferry, was the conductor; J. C. Anderson, Pocatello, was flagman, and R. J. Lacey, Pocatello, was switchman.

U.S. and Russians May Clash in New Atomic Conference

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Twelve nations this afternoon started a conference that shapes up as a contest between the United States and Russia over the form of a proposed world atoms-for-peace agency. The Russians want it set up under the United Nations security council, where their veto can be effectively used in running its affairs. The United States wants it to have more autonomy—as a specialized agency tied to the U.N. only by a commitment to report once a year.

Serious Harm Is Avoided by 15 in Crackup

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—Fifteen persons aboard a West Coast airlines DC3, including one from Twin Falls, escaped serious injury last night as the plane crash landed during a blinding snowstorm.

The Twin Falls passenger was Lorraine Langdon, daughter of Mrs. L. L. Langdon, a student at University of Idaho. She was taken to the school infirmary for treatment of nose cuts.

Authorities said the snow flurries which struck the Moscow area last night may have obscured the pilot's vision. The plane was 20 minutes overdue on a flight from Idaho Falls to Spokane when it crashed.

Lands on Hill

The plane landed on a hill in the middle of the Palouse (Washington) wheat country, about three miles northeast of the Moscow-Pullman airport. The pilot, A. H. Whithead, and Dr. D. M. Locher, a Moscow physician who was on the plane, walked to a nearby farm house and called the airport.

Merrill Boyd, who lived at the house, went to the scene with his tractor and brought the five women passengers to the road where an ambulance picked them up. All but three were released and sent to a hotel for the night.

Kept at Hospital

Al Klein, the co-pilot, Marshall Smith of Walla Walla, and Mrs. Arzella Watt of Richland, Wash., were kept at the hospital for observation.

Authorities said Whithead brought the plane down in good shape. A West Coast airlines official said the accident was the company's first in which passengers and crew members were injured since it began operations in 1946. The company has flown 174 million passenger miles.

The official also said West Coast will send officers from Seattle to investigate the crash.

2 New Planes Fly U.S. With No Refueling

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—Two F84F Thunderstreaks whizzed at an average speed of 670 miles an hour from California to Virginia yesterday to set an unofficial record for the first coast-to-coast jet flight without refueling.

Air force officials said their speed of three hours, 34 minutes was not into the record books because the flight was not timed officially.

Pilots Named

Lieut. Col. Robert A. Scott, Des Moines, Ia., and First Lieut. Richard Hill, III, Scarsdale, N. Y., flew the Republic jet fighter-bombers across the country without adding fuel to their original supply.

The planes took off from Norton air force base near San Bernardino, Calif., at 12:50 p. m. EST and arrived at Langley at 4:24 p. m. Their average speed was more than 670 miles an hour—faster than the speed of sound at the altitude they traveled. They flew between 21,500 and 41,500 feet during the mission.

Purpose Told

The air force said the flight was designed to see if the jet planes could fly long distances without refueling. The planes landed with auxiliary fuel tanks still attached.

Sometimes in combat the tanks are dropped in flight when they are empty. Officials said that when they landed they had enough fuel left for 400 miles more under the same flying conditions.

Budget Chief Is Appointed To New Post

BOISE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie today appointed James H. Young, state budget director and director of administration, to fill the unexpired term of Secretary of State Ira H. Masters, who died Feb. 19.

Young, who was beaten by Masters by 12,000 votes in the 1954 general election, will continue in his present capacities "for the time being" in addition to assuming his new duties, Smylie said.

Young will draw the $6,500 annual salary of the secretary of state.

Chief Justice C. J. Taylor of the state supreme court will swear in Young at 10 a. m. tomorrow, Smylie said.

In taking up Masters' duties, Young will become a member of the state land board and the board of examiners.

He holds his present positions by a Smylie appointment.

Clouds Bring Snow to Utah; Idaho Region

By The Associated Press

Unsettled conditions kept Utah and Idaho residents guessing about the weather Monday as broken clouds flouted over the area, developing into heavy snow squalls at times. But the weather bureau said it expected things to clear up Tuesday when a strong storm system developing off the Pacific Northwest coast would begin to influence the Intermountain picture. It said a movement of warm air from the south would clear the clouds away and boost temperatures slightly.

With Monday's snow squalls came hazardous road conditions, with already icy spots made worse by the spotty new snow falls.

Temperatures Monday ranged upward to around 40 degrees and Monday night were expected to be about 10 to 20.

Readings for the 24 hours ended at 5:30 a. m. Monday:

Lewiston, 38, 41 and 32; Boise 35, 27 and 11; Pocatello 29, 23 and 02; Twin Falls 32, 25 and a trace; Idaho Falls 29, 18 and a trace; Salt Lake City, 37, 22 and 01.

Fifth District Legion Meets At Filer Hall

FILER, Feb. 27—Sixty-five members of the fifth district American Legion met Sunday afternoon at the American Legion hall here.

Delegates were present from Eden, Paul, Burley, Rupert, Oakley, Kimberly, "Twin Falls" and Buhl. Members of the auxiliary met at the IOOF hall during the afternoon and the two units were served a banquet in the evening at the Filer Grange hall.

Committee appointments included Leonard Jacob, Twin Falls; Dave Eggleston, Buhl; Don Whitehead, Kimberly; and Henry Ortel, Filer; resolutions: L. James Koutnik, Twin Falls; and Jack Ramsey, Filer; greetings; and Ivan Nipper, Buhl, time and place.

The 1956 convention for the district will be held at Buhl on May 20. George Bever, Twin Falls, reported that the employment award went to the Lewiston post with the C. C. Anderson store in Lewiston receiving the plaque.

Announcement was made that Irvin McDonald, Eden, had been appointed to the national agriculture committee and Jack Ramsey, Filer, to the national housing committee.

Thomas Hovenden, Twin Falls; Paul Brown, Filer; and Nipper, Buhl, reported on junior American Legion baseball.

Program chairman for the banquet was Mrs. Henry Westendorf and Westendorf was master of ceremonies. Don Bailey, Twin Falls, spoke. Others on the program were Don Johnson, Ray Wilcke and the Filer auxiliary sextet. Mrs. Clarence Bever was in charge of decorations.

Horse's Kick Injures Man

SHOSHONE, Feb. 27—Phil Hoag, 57, Boise, was flown to Boise Sunday by Floyd Silva, after Hoag had been kicked in the head by a horse on the Bacon ranch south of here Sunday morning. At last report Hoag's condition was reported as "fairly good."

Hoag, with John Brock, Wells, Bradley and Finley Hansen, all Boise, were visiting Brock's parents when the mishap occurred.

There are two versions of the accident. At Shoshone the report is Hoag was kicked by a horse in a team as he opened the door of a car. The door hit the horse on the flank and the horse kicked. Sheriff James B. Burns, Jerome, who investigated the mishap Monday, said he has been informed the horse kicked the Boise man after Hoag had stepped the animal on the flank.

Hoag was taken to Shoshone for medical treatment and then flown to Boise by Silva in the latter's airplane.

U.S. Prepares Far-Reaching Network Of Listening Radar Warning Systems

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The United States is slowly assembling a radar warning system—in the air, on the ground, at sea—which will reach around almost half the globe.

The distant early warning line (Dewline) being built in secret places on the polar rim of the North American continent is only a component of the vast system intended ultimately to give warning to this country of enemy aircraft and perhaps later missiles approaching from almost any point of the compass.

Stations somewhat similar to the powerful radar installations going into the Dewline sites apparently are beginning to appear in far corners of the world—in Okinawa and other far western Pacific islands; on islands in the central Pacific; in the Hawaiian group; up in the strategically critical archipelago of Alaska; in Greenland; far southward in the Caribbean.

"Texas towers" are being built in coastal waters to extend the fixed position stations of the radar chains across Canada and the United States.

Publican Leader William E. Knowland, Calif., have been drawing up the idea of an election reform measure in the wake of the furor over campaign contributions offered during recent controversy over the natural gas bill.
"This reform is needed quite as much in that third of the states which are now under one-party rule as in the other two-thirds," he said. Johnson declined to make public the text of his election bill, pending consultation with Knowland and other GOP leaders.

Man Is Jailed On Negligent Driver Count

Seaman was arrested on the two charges and pleaded guilty on both counts when arraigned before Judge Tucker.

On Monday morning Judge Tucker fined Glen Rogers, Rupert, $25 on a charge of running through a red light in Burley.

Gerald C. Thorpe, Jerome, was fined $25 and $3 costs Monday by Justice of the Peace Frank Dice in Shoshone for negligent driving. Judge Dice suspended $10 of the fine.

Thorpe was arrested by State Patrolman Willard Baker and Sheriff Thomas Conner in Shoshone on Feb. 19 and charged with drunken driving. He denied the charge when arraigned before Judge Dice and time was set for trial. The trial was postponed to Monday morning at which time Thorpe pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

Leo Miller, Boise, was fined $15 Sunday by Gooding Police Judge Ramon Emsura on a charge of speeding. Miller was arrested last Wednesday and charged with driving 50 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone in Gooding.

Judge Emsura also fined Charles Hallett, Gooding, $3 Sunday on a charge of making an illegal U turn. Hallett, 510 Altimas drive, was fined $10 and $3 costs Saturday in Twin Falls police court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding. She was cited by city police Thursday for driving 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on Shoshone street north.

William G. Laird, Jerome, was fined $3 Monday by Acting Police Judge Robert Kehrer, Jerome, on a charge of making an illegal U turn in Jerome.

They include Lyle D. Thorpe, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Thorpe, Shoshone; William H. Kestle, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Kestle, Jerome; Boyd VanLeuven, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ersel VanLeuven, Heyburn; and Curtis Pickett, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Pickett, Burley.

Condition Told
Condition of Margaret DeLuca, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeLuca, 120 Tenth avenue north, was described as "fairly good" Monday by an attendant at Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

The child incurred a concussion and other injuries when she was struck by a car Wednesday near Shoshone street and Eighth avenue north.

Hog Wild
Because the George Washington birthday sale was such a success, members of the commercial division of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce voted to hold a summer promotion July 26, 27, and 28, at their meeting Monday noon.

The group decided to call the sale "Hog wild days" and give away bacon of hams.

Funeral Is Held For Mrs. Laird
Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie D. Laird were conducted Monday afternoon at the White mortuary chapel by the Rev. Norman Stockwell.

Gem Senator, McKay Clash Over Policies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Interior Secretary Douglas McKay clashed with a Republican senator today over mineral policy and finally snapped: "You're wasting my time."

Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, R., Ida., protested at a senate appropriations subcommittee hearing that the department's office of minerals mobilization (OMM) has no long-range national minerals policy.

McKay replied that he was no expert and the question should be answered later by Assistant Secretary Felix E. Wornser.

Words Fly
"You're making a mountain out of a molehill," McKay told Dworshak. "I don't agree with you that there is no long-range planning."

Dworshak persisted that McKay should answer since he is secretary of the interior.

"Wornser will straighten it out," McKay replied. "You're wasting my time."

Dworshak Retorts
"You're wasting the time of congress unless you come up with the answer," Dworshak said.

The senator said President Eisenhower took congress in vetoing a minerals bill last year that OMM had been set up to formulate a long-range policy. But he said Spencer S. Shannon, OMM director, claimed in a speech last week that his agency had no such responsibility and was only required to plan for mobilization.

McKay asked the subcommittee to restore an 18.6 million dollar cut in interior funds voted by the house. The budget asked for $299,488,600, exclusive of power generating and transmitting funds.

Hiding Haunt Of Virus Now Being Sought
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Where does the polio virus spend the winter?

Researchers now are seeking the answer to this question in a new approach to the problem of infantile paralysis. Dr. Dorothy Horstmann of the Yale university medical school, told a group of Western medical and public health workers.

In the cold months between polio seasons the virus disappears from many places where it is found during and immediately after disease outbreaks, Dr. Horstmann said.

During and after the outbreaks the virus often can be found in sewage, in houseflies and intestinal waste from healthy humans but it unaccountably disappears when cold weather comes and the disease subsides.

Since it seems to vanish also from its favorite breeding ground, the human system, in the non-epidemic period it must have some place to hide. Investigators now are examining things like soil and wild animals for possible clues, the researchers said.

Discovery of any polio virus reservoirs would give medical science another area for pressing its attack on the disease.

It was studies by Dr. Horstmann made several years ago that demonstrated the feasibility of a vaccine for polio. She demonstrated that the polio virus in an infected human, exists for a time in the blood stream, where antibodies against disease circulate. This gave the opening signal that a vaccine should be effective.

2 Small Children Hurt in Accident
JEROME, Feb. 27—Two small children were injured Saturday when the automobile in which they were riding collided with the rear of another car that was stalled on the highway five miles southwest of Eden.

Charlie Crawford's 1948 Chrysler had stalled on the highway and Mrs. Violet Kelly, Hazelton, was unable to stop her 1951 Chevrolet in time to avoid a crash. Her son, Victor Kelly, 15 months, was treated at St. Benedict's hospital for cuts and bruises and her daughter, Loris Kelly, 4, was treated by a physician for cuts.

Damage to Crawford's car was estimated at $100 by Deputy Sheriff Gordon Newbury, who investigated the crash, and damage to the other car was estimated at $200.

Twin Falls News in Brief

Post Parking Bonds
Elton Anderson and Barbara Stanfield posted $1 bonds Sunday with Twin Falls police for overtime parking violations.

Participates in Training
Pfc. Merlin G. Howard, 23, son of Mrs. Julia Howard, 639 Locust street, recently took part in field training exercises with the fourth infantry division in Germany.

Slater Passes
Mrs. Arch Whiteley, 328 Fourth avenue east, was notified Friday that her sister, Mrs. Mirtle Armes, Greeley, Colo., died following a five-month illness.

Relief Society to Meet
Mrs. Sterling Larson will conduct the social science lesson for the LDS fifth ward Relief society at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Nursery care will be provided.

Driver Fined
Neal M. Lane, Boise, paid a $2 fine and $3 costs Monday in Twin Falls justice court when he pleaded guilty to failure to display both license plates on his vehicle. He was cited by state police Sunday within the city limits.

Alumni to Meet
Alumni of Grinnell college will meet at 3 p.m. Sunday at the home of Wesley Woodard, 133 Crestline, Boise. Harold R. Harding, Grinnell, Ia., alumni secretary, will be present. Alumni planning to attend have been asked to notify Ned Harlan, Box 1157, Boise.

Illnesses Reported
Mrs. J. H. Cooke, now ill at Bannock Memorial hospital, Pocatello, plans to come to Twin Falls soon to help care for her mother, Mrs. Charles Sken, 627 Main avenue east. Mrs. Sken was a patient at Magic Valley Memorial hospital recently. Mrs. Cooke visited her mother here and had just returned to Pocatello when she became ill.

Flood Danger Is Feared for Europe Thaw
LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—European weather experts reported today a thaw was ending the worst cold wave in Europe since the turn of the century but warned that a fast thaw would multiply the dangers of floods and avalanches.

The month-long cold spell took nearly 1,000 lives and inflicted many millions of dollars damage.

Slides Threaten
Weather experts said any but the slowest thaw will turn the frozen rivers into roaring torrents and loosen great snow slides in the mountains. Nine Alpine passes in northern Italy already have been blocked by avalanches.

Soldiers and volunteers worked steadily to strengthen the banks of swollen rivers in hopes of preventing floods, but heavy rain in the Abruzzi area was making matters worse. In Austria, loosened ice cakes smashed into railroad bridges, halting traffic.

Spain Is Fearful
The flood danger was acute in Spain because of recent unusually heavy snows. In Belgium 2,500 troops were on a permanent alert along the Scheldt and Meuse rivers.

Four sailors who went to the rescue of four other persons adrift on a cake of ice outside Frederikshaven on the eastern Jutland shore were feared lost. A royal navy boat saved the four other persons.

Judgment Is Not Granted in Case
A civil action filed Friday in Twin Falls probate court by Chester T. Denton against John Angerbaumer for $107.82 and not an entry of judgment for the amount in favor of Denton as earlier reported.

Denton asks the court to award him the amount for damages resulting from a traffic accident near Heyburn avenue and Jackson street on Oct. 18, 1955. He alleges Angerbaumer failed to yield the right of way and failed to keep his vehicle under control enough to enable him to stop in time to avoid the accident.

Mortuary Zoning Set During Meet
Zoning of mortuaries was discussed at the Twin Falls zoning commission meeting Monday morning.

After lengthy debate the commissioners voted to allow mortuaries in the multiple family dwelling classifications, which include most of the older part of town.

Further discussion of the proposed ordinance will be held at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the city hall.

Condition Listed
A nurse at Twin Falls clinic hospital said Monday Kenneth Wilham, 16, is doing "very well." The Twin Falls high school student was hospitalized Thursday with wounds resulting from a wood chisel puncturing the upper part of his stomach.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wilham, route 1, Twin Falls.

Trucks Damaged
JEROME, Feb. 27—Two new Autocar trucks belonging to the Autocar Manufacturing company, Easton, Pa., were damaged when they overturned three miles west of Eden at the intersection of highways 25 and 50 at 8:30 a.m. Monday. Damage was estimated at $4,000 by Deputy Sheriff Gordon Newbury, who investigated.

One of the trucks was hauling the other. Driver of the truck was R. E. Sober, Lansing, Mich. He told Newbury he lost control of the vehicles and they rolled over. He was uninjured.

Alarmed
Twin Falls police patrol cars covered on the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company building at 11:30 a.m. Monday within minutes after the burglar alarm sounded.

Police found no armed robbers but only an embarrassed teller who had tripped the alarm accidentally.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH
Here's a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

Alleged Ford Letter Shown To Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Senate investigators today offered "a letter purporting to come from the office of Henry Ford II" as "documentation" of earlier charges that Ford Motor company asked its dealers to contribute to President Eisenhower's 1952 campaign.

Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney, D., Okla., of a senate commerce subcommittee investigating auto-industry practices revealed the letter yesterday. He said it urged Ford dealers to contribute to the GOP cause.

The letter, which referred to the 1952 campaign, advised the dealer to whom it was addressed to meet with other Ford dealers in his area and arrange to solicit their campaign contributions, Monroney said.

Monroney did not disclose the name of the dealer nor the city where he is in business. Monroney said the subcommittee would investigate to see if the Ford request amounted to "pressure" or "duress."

If the contributions themselves need further scrutiny, he said, the information would be turned over to a special blue-ribbon senate committee set up last week to investigate lobbying, campaign contributions and possible improper attempts to influence the senate.

Monroney's committee earlier had heard Milton Ratner, a former Chicago Ford dealer, testify that a fellow dealer told him Ford wanted its Chicago dealers to kick in $50,000 for Mr. Eisenhower's 1952 campaign. Ratner refused.

60 Kiwanians Attend Meets Here Sunday
Approximately 60 members attended the fifth division Kiwanis training conference at the Legion hall here Sunday afternoon.

Milo B. Davis, Buhl, outlined purpose of the conference and division goals. He is Kiwanis district lieutenant governor. The district governor, Dr. H. Wayne Morris, Vernad, Utah, greeted delegates. A film was shown on 1956 objectives of Kiwanis International.

Following a talk on effective committee functioning by a past district governor, O. P. Duvall, delegates split up for committee training periods.

Dr. J. W. Marshall was moderator on youth services. Speakers were Fred Rudolph on youth assistance; John Platt, boys and girls work; Bill Herrett, key clubs, and Earl Ramsey, underprivileged children.

Ray J. Holmes and William Buncie, Jr., Filer, were moderators of discussion on Kiwanis administration. Speakers were Bobby Bopp, inter-club relations; Fred Kalluay, Kiwanis education and fellowship; James C. Reynolds, programs and music; Earl Greenawald, new club building; Kenneth Montgomery, public relations; Wayne Hollenbeck, attendance and membership.

Jungue Shinn was moderator for the section on citizenship services. Speakers were Jack Farrar, agriculture and conservation; Dick Blauer, public and business affairs, and Henry Pharris, support of churches.

2 Are Held Here In Check Passing
City police were holding a 21-year-old man and a 17-year-old woman in the city jail Monday on charges resulting from an attempt to cash a check at a local market.

Mrs. Mabel LeFrancis, 17, Albany, Ore., is held on a check charge and Samuel Taylor, 21, no address, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Mrs. LeFrancis was arrested at 1:30 p.m. as she attempted to cash a $10 check at Cardinal Food market, 683 Main avenue east, by city police and Sheriff James H. Benham. Taylor was arrested a short time later in the 600 block of Main avenue east.

Employees of the market had been warned earlier of the activities of the two. Mrs. LeFrancis allegedly cashed a bad check at Erb Brothers market, Buhl.

Moose Honor Smylie for "Service to Fellow Men"

Gov. Robert E. Smylie is congratulated by Regional Director C. L. (Buck) Swan, left, Boise, on receiving a scroll signed by Moose officials for "service to fellow men as a civic leader, public-spirited citizen, friend and humanitarian." Presenting the scroll is Paul E. McCarville, right, Fort Dodge, Ia., supreme commander, Loyal Order of Moose. The occasion was the first of its kind in Moose history at which both the titular heads of a state and of a fraternity were honored at a joint-ceremonial banquet. (Album photo—staff engraving)

Death Strikes Young Girl as Twin Doomed

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 27 (AP)—The parents of a 2-year-old girl who died of leukemia said today it was only a matter of time until the disease kills her twin sister.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Lopik's prayerful watch over Eileen Sue ended yesterday when the girl died. But death had played only half of its tragedy in their lives.

The second twin, Kathleen Jo, will also die shortly from the same disease.

Unaware of Fate

Kathleen Jo toddled in and out of her sister's room, unaware that she too was dying.

"The deeply religious young couple had been keeping constant vigil at Eileen Sue's bed, sleeping only in snatches, waiting for her death."

"Now she is in heaven with Jesus. We are sure she has gone straight to the arms of Jesus," Van Lopik said.

Wall Anticipated

"No, we have to wait again."

The Van Lopiks, resigned to the fact that the "one-in-a-million" chance that both of their twins would be stricken by the same disease had happened, expected the worst.

They ordered a lot in Woodlawn cemetery that would accommodate two caskets. One bearing the body of Eileen will be lowered into a grave in the lot tomorrow. The other half of the lot is reserved for twin sister, Kathleen Jo. The parents feared the end for her wouldn't be too far off.

Mother Comments

"We didn't expect her to last this long," the mother said.

"She was so good Saturday. She seemed so well and happy. She even took a dish of ice cream and ate it all."

Doctors planned to start giving Kathleen blood transfusions this week. She'll receive 1 1/2 to 2 pints this week—a half-pint at a time.

By next week they hope she will be able to go home. But it only will be temporary. In two, or three, possibly four weeks, it will be another trip to the hospital.

Transfusions Stated

Then more transfusions. Maybe home again. At the age of 2, leukemia usually strikes quickly. Only a miracle appears likely to save her.

Doctors ordered the young parents home to rest and told them to visit the hospital only briefly this week.

The two girls had been considered very healthy when born. It was discovered in November that Eileen Sue had leukemia. Last Monday doctors learned her sister had the same disease. Both were taken to the hospital last Wednesday, Eileen Sue for the last time.

Crash Kills 2

NAGOYA, Japan, Feb. 27 (AP)—A U.S. air force T33 jet trainer crashed today in the suburbs of Nagoya, killing the pilot and a passenger, the fifth air force announced. The crash caused minor damage to a Japanese house.

Names of the victims were not released.

Extradition Set For Idaho Man

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 27 (AP)—Douglas Fred Chrest, believed from Boise, Ida., was held in jail today pending extradition proceedings to return him to Idaho to face perjury charges.

Thursday, Chrest told Chochise County Sheriff Jack Howard he had buried $46,000 in government bonds in a pit two miles north of here because he observed two "auspicious characters" at the motel in which he was staying here.

Howard said upon checking with authorities in Boise it was learned Chrest had taken a paupers oath in court when he was divorced from his wife. Howard said he was advised the perjury charge had been filed and was asked by the Ada county, Ida., prosecutor's office to hold Chrest.

Chrest refused to sign a waiver of extradition.

In Boise, a spokesman in the office of County Prosecutor Blaine Evans said a complaint had been forwarded to Phoenix as a first step in having Chrest returned to Boise.

Hot Water Spring Opened by Quake

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—The sharp earthquake that shook southern California Feb. 9 today was credited with opening warm springs in the desert of Baja California, Mexico.

An expedition of scientists sponsored by the San Diego Union said a fissure more than 18 miles long was discovered about 120 miles southwest of here. The fissure was about a foot wide and four feet deep. The quake also opened one large warm spring that now is pouring more than 500 gallons of water a minute.

Robert Gil, geologist at the navy electronics laboratory, said the water temperature is 81 degrees, indicating it is coming from a great depth. He said it would be about two weeks before it is known if it will continue to flow.

Indians in the area were reported constructing dams to hold the water.

RCA Breaks Into 'Top 25' Bracket

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Radio Corporation of America broke into the ranks of the nation's top 25 industrial firms in 1955 with record sales of more than one billion dollars, the company's report to stockholders showed today.

The annual report to RCA's 170,122 stockholders, signed by Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, board chairman, and Frank M. Folsom, president, said RCA had sold four million dollars worth of goods and services each working day last year. It said its sales topped the one billion dollar goal set at the beginning of 1955.

Firm's Water Cost for 1956 Is Announced

SHOSHONE, Feb. 27—Big Wood Canal company's maintenance and operation assessments for 1956 will be $220 a share of water, Robert Ferber, manager, reports. The assessment was set in November, 1955, but first legal notice was given last week.

The assessment is the same as last year and lower than the $250 assessment in 1953 and 1954. The raise those years was caused by repairs to the valves at the reservoir headgates and by flood in the winter of 1952 that washed out part of Richfield canal.

The runoff last December was the greatest in the history of the reservoir for that month, with 40,000 acre feet discharged into the reservoir. Most of the runoff came from Camas creek, known also as the Malad river, which runs the length of Camas valley.

At the end of the irrigation season last fall, the reservoir contained 24,000 acre feet. It now contains 77,000 acre feet. Capacity is 191,500 acre feet.

There has been no runoff since December to amount to anything, officials said. By March 1, when snowfall is presumably over, officials will be able to more closely determine if flood conditions will threaten this spring. Should the watersheds of both Camas creek and Big Wood river show heavy runoff at the same time, the reservoir would fill almost immediately and flood conditions similar to 1952, might prevail, they said.

Charged

PLINT, Mich., Feb. 27 (AP)—An enraged motorist subdued Glenn Guerin and held him for police when Guerin hit his car after already damaging three others.

Police charged Guerin with being drunk in a public place, driving without a license, suspicion of felonious assault, suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon, suspicion of being a fugitive, leaving the scene of a property-damage accident and driving under the influence of liquor.

Northwest Area Coal Fails Tests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The bureau of mines said today experiments for opening another outlet for Pacific Northwest coal have failed.

The experiments were undertaken by the bureau to purify coal and make it a source of carbon electrodes—used in an electrical process to make aluminum.

Petroleum coke is used almost exclusively as a source of carbon electrodes. The experiments also were conducted to try and develop a substitute for petroleum coke in the event of a shortage.

But the bureau said it was impossible to purify any of the coals in the Pacific Northwest area.

PAYING FOR THE ROADS

The basic principle proposed in the new highway program being considered in Congress is that the roads this country needs so desperately should be paid for by those who will use them. This seems eminently fair.

It would appear at least a reasonable extension of this principle that the load be borne by highway users in proportion to the degree of their use. In other words, whoever imposes the greatest burden on the roads should pay the biggest part of the cost.

Is it the passenger car or is it the truck? The present legislation strikes a balance in additional taxes on these two kinds of users which the American Trucking associations regard as proper. But a good many others, including the American Automobile association, say it is not.

The latter argues that the proposed levies on motor fuel, tire materials and the like are not heavy enough on the trucks.

They cite such matters as the great size and weight of trucks, which necessitates thicker roads and hence higher initial costs; the tremendous and increasing mileage run up by trucks; and the fact that they are engaged in work which earns a profit, while most ordinary drivers are not.

Some even go into the disputed issue of how much damage heavy trucks may do to the highways.

These are questions to be resolved by the experts. Congress is hearing the partisans in both sides of this argument. But it has a particular responsibility to seek out the most impartial judges it can find.

For what is at stake is more than a badly needed highway program, more than the mere technicalities of how to raise additional tax money.

A point of justice is at fundamental issue. The new taxes are supposed to reflect the principle: From each according to his use. Congress obviously cannot afford to apply that principle carelessly. Nor ought it to modify it in response to undue pressures, from whatever source.

If either of these things should happen, then the people are quite likely to speak out. And if they do they will speak to the lawmakers in a voice louder than the noisiest lobby that ever came to Washington.

INGREDIENTS OF COURAGE

There is a notion abroad in some quarters, political, intellectual and other, that moderation is the course of weakness, that only by "taking a firm stand" does a man exhibit courage and integrity.

We would suggest that many times, though certainly not universally, the exact opposite is true. Again and again the moderate path is the hard one.

Often it is unspectacular as compared with the more dramatic extremes. Since, too, it so frequently stresses compromise, it can be very unpopular when the social, political or moral atmosphere seems to favor "no compromise."

There are many occasions, too, when it is by far the most difficult course to work out. The extremes may offer pat, simple answers to problems. Solutions in the middle range may call for delicate balances, fine adjustments. They may demand resistance to extremes on two sides.

The man who seeks sane solutions, in the middle and fights for them with all vigor need never bow his head. He is always fit company for the best of those who aggressively champion the more exposed positions in life.

CROWDED AIRLINES

It was a wise move when Mr. Eisenhower named a new special assistant to plan the nation's future aviation facilities. Such planning constitutes one of the country's really critical needs.

Even as viewed today, the status of commercial and other aviation is not good. The crowding of the lanes over airports is attested by the fact that every day there are four near-collisions of major commercial aircraft, mostly in clear weather.

Airports are not only overcrowded from the standpoint of physical facilities. Most have outmoded electronic equipment to assist in the control of landings and take-offs.

And the regulations which govern flying not only at fields but along the far-flung air lanes are badly in need of modernizing to fit today's planes.

Everyone of these problems will be vastly magnified when the commercial jet age is ushered in in a little more than three years. The call is for planning on the widest, most imaginative level possible.

EXAMPLE FOR WORLD

It should not go unnoticed that Britain within a year and a half will grant full independence to Malaya, an Asian land now a British protectorate with colonial status.

Just a short time ago the British, with the Egyptians, relinquished the last hold on the Sudan in Africa.

These developments are in keeping with Britain's enlightened postwar policy which recognizes the aspirations of once subject peoples.

By way of contrast, one might ask what subject land the Soviet union has granted independence in the last half decade or so. The answer, of course is none.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Although Wall Street agents have been making feverish efforts around Washington to learn whether President Eisenhower will run again, the prevailing belief among bankers and brokers here and in New York is that his answer will be in the affirmative. Their attitude explains and underlies the recent behavior of the stock market.

Their deep concern is understandable, as well as the many inquiries they have been quietly making in high political circles and around the treasury. Secretary George M. Humphrey, Ike's Georgia host, is regarded as one of the President's principal advisers and confidants on this all-important subject.

Although "The Street" is divided on the effect of any second-term decision, it is expected that stock prices will go up a bit in event of a nod from Ike. Non-professionals will probably rush to buy, as they hastened to sell after his Sept. 24 heart attack. But if he declines to stand for a second try, it is believed that they will fall slightly and temporarily.

To dealers in large blocks of public and private securities, a small rise or dip of one or two points can mean winning or losing many thousands of dollars. Speculative interests, as against more conservative trading groups, have a great deal to lose or gain.

CURIOUS BUT LOGICAL—Strange as it may seem, Ike's political friends hope that there will be no spectacular advance as a reaction to his decision to stay in politics. Their reasons are curious but logical.

A spurt responsive to his "I will run" would be a political boon. It would reflect general confidence in him and his policies, a desire for more of the same philosophy at Washington, and it could probably be translated into Republican votes next November. It would underwrite the GOP's slogan of "peace and prosperity."

OPINION OF FINANCIAL EXPERTS—But many administration experts regard the market level as too high and too topheavy at the present moment. The three-year advance, in their opinion, has been too sustained and too unbroken in the face of heavy government expenditures, assured maintenance of high taxes and uneasy world conditions, especially Britain's fiscal plight.

Should Ike's "yes" send it soaring to new peaks, there would probably be a sharper reaction during 1956 than if it remains at present levels. Such a decline would be regarded as unfortunate from both the political and economic standpoint, especially if it happened in the midst of the presidential campaign.

On the other hand, if prices fall because of a negative decision, it could harm the GOP. It would be interpreted as a loss of confidence in any other nominee. And since Vice President Richard M. Nixon holds the rail position with Ike off the track, it would be construed as special reflection on him.

PRICES HOPPED UP AND DOWN—The market's conduct since Ike's illness and during his convalescence suggests that it will not be rocked violently or permanently, regardless of his determination.

Upon hysterical and no-professional selling, prices fell after the news of his heart attack. But they advanced to new highs within six weeks, although the impression grew that he would quit active politics. For the last six weeks, they have been hopping up and down with no definite trend.

A slight advance and heavier trading followed upon his physicians' favorable report. It lasted for only a few days, however. Then the market rebounded with the statement by Edgar Eisenhower that he thought his brother would seek a second term in order to "finish the job."

NOTHING SPECTACULAR ANTICIPATED—Wall Street, it appears, has discounted all presidential possibilities and nominations, and there is an old saying that "the street never discounts anything twice." In short, the bulls and bears think Ike will run again, are glad of the fact, but anticipate no spectacular stock market movement.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

TODAY'S ABOLITIONISTS

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York has now made his position clear on the Powell amendment, which would withhold federal aid from school districts unless they have ended racial segregation as ordered by the supreme court. Gov. Harriman has declared in favor of withholding federal funds as a means of enforcing integration.

As Adlai E. Stevenson has already announced his opposition to that principle, it remains now for Senator Kefauver to declare himself. The senator has said that adoption of the Powell amendment would cause defeat of the school aid bill, but has not expressed himself finally in whether it should be adopted.

The Powell amendment, it seems to us, provides a fairly good index of basic political attitudes. Those who favor it would have been abolitionists a century ago. They are the people who want to tackle racial problems by radical and impatient methods, using federal power to the fullest against local and state resistance.

Then, as now, more moderate people were just as strongly committed to racial equality, but preferred to move by slower and surer methods, by consent rather than coercion. Lincoln was one of these. Had the South gone halfway to meet him, there would have been no civil war. Had he instead of the radicals controlled the Reconstruction period, there might have been no Southern reaction of prejudice and discrimination—a reaction which became a basic source of the racial problem today.

Do what is right by methods that insure lasting results—that was the best counsel a hundred years ago, and it is the best counsel today. And it is fitting that Lincoln's standard should now be carried by another Illinoisan—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FOR WHOM THE BENEFITS?

What kind of government is of the greatest benefit to whom?

During this election year, there will be a lot of talk of political philosophies—with each side in any political debate claiming that its platform and policies are the best for the nation.

It seems that certain basic points should be kept in mind while the political arguments whirl. Among them are these:

(1) Elaborate government programs that touch directly the lives of many people usually are accompanied by elaborate controls for government seldom hands out a dollar without a string attached to it.

(2) The more a government seeks to do for a people, the bigger it must become. And big government usually means higher taxes and more officials who will be concerned with the affairs of citizens.

Those who hold out promises of financial benefits as blessings usually say little about the accompanying curses of tighter controls, higher taxes, reduced incentives and restricted human liberties.

These points might be kept in mind when the promises are flying in the months ahead.—Nampa Free Press.

A USEFUL WORD

Dr. Willy Ley, German authority on interplanetary flight, was asked what he thought of reports of space ships from other worlds.

"Bunk," said Dr. Ley. "An admissible word. It should be used more by sensible men to describe not only visions from Mars, but also horoscopes, the speeches of Nikita Khrushchev, eternal friendship through foreign aid, extra-sensory perception, the speeches of Krishna Menon, palm reading, UNESCO's annual report. And lots more.—Omaha World-Herald.

WATCH GLOWING PROMISES OF BENEFITS

The lure is often held out to private land holders that if they sign this or sign that, glowing benefits will accrue. If the economic strength of a community, area or the state is placed in the hands of any bureau of government the welfare then of that section depends entirely upon the whims and dictates of the regulators. Look well before signing any agreement that might eventually place your operations at the sufferance of the federal government.—Idaho Woolgrowers Bulletin.

POT SHOTS

WATCH THOSE HANDS!

What do you do with your hands during a conversation? Do you just stand there and let 'em dangle or do you scratch your chin or perhaps gesticulate wildly?

Next time you see a couple of guys talking on the street, watch 'em to see what they're doing with their hands. Chances are one of the guys will be fiddling with a parking meter while the other one keeps waving a cigarette around.

Women? They aren't bothered too much this way, particularly if they happen to be carrying a handbag. We'd be a sap to pass up a chance like this. Quite obviously a woman has to use both hands to hold her handbag. It'd take a professional strongman to carry all that weight in one hand.

But back to the hands of talkers. There's one school of thought that has managed to beat the problem. These gents just keep their hands in their coat pockets.

Curious, Twin Falls—Why not call him up and ask him? It's always best to get the straight story from the persons involved than from some other source.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

One afternoon, just after Christmas, a little elderly man stood at a high window of the Ritz-Carlton in Boston, gazing down on a scene which cried out for the talent of Grandma Moses.

The schools were on vacation, and on the pond, where, in summer, the swan boats ply quietly on rose petals, a little cruises up around the shore, hundreds of children and young men were skating, a fluent dapple of bright color. Although New York is his beat now, Father James M. Gillis, of the Paulist order, a great fighter for moral causes, is a native of Boston and he was home for a Christmas visit under conditions which gave him the satisfaction of a man vindicated at last after many painful and unjust frustrations.

The public garden, where the pond lies under the windows of the Ritz. In the distance, on rising ground, lies Boston common with Bethlehem scene done life-size on public grounds. This is one of the few such presentations to be found nowadays on public premises in the United States.

Beyond the farthest border of the common a religious monument was coming into being to the honor and glory of Father Gillis. This is an "information center" or headquarters of the Paulists in their constant effort to win converts to their faith.

In his eighteenth year it was named for James M. Gillis. It was as though his enemies in controversy had at last conceded that he had been right all the time, although of course such admissions are never spelled out. It was enough, however, for the meaning was quite plain, that this courageous little giant of religious journalism was worthy of special honor of a kind that comes to few. This was vindication.

"Do you see that house there?" he said, pointing a long way off. "That convent was burned out in the Know-Nothing riots. Look at it now. Repose—come in the career of every man who fights for the truth and decency. It may sound amusing, coming from me after my years of strife, but my advice to any man who finds himself too far ahead of his artillery would be to fall back into the crowd. Otherwise the enemy will crush you. The enemy has the power and the resources and those who should support the few uncompromising idealists simply will not. In a few years, events will show them how wrong they were but meanwhile disaster is inevitable to any man who fights alone against such a public opinion."

Father Gillis had skated on that pond 70 years ago.

"And I played ball on that diamond over there on the common," I sized him up. He looked like Johnny Evers, except for Johnny's loving-cup ears. A confident, cocky banian.

"You couldn't have played outfield," I said, "and certainly not first base. And in those days catchers wore a mitt that you could hardly lift."

"Third base," he said. "The hot corner."

That was a sport-page term out of a dim past.

"We called it the ukulele corner when I was writing baseball," I said. "Joe Dugan asked Ruth to lend him his uke to pass the time down there. The umpires called it the rest cure or their day off. With all that stuff going to right and center and home runs cleaning the bases, nothing ever happens at third."

"Oh yes," he said, "but I am speaking of 70 years ago and 60 years ago. In my time a left-handed hitter was a freak. They were all most all right-handers and pull-hitters, too. Yes, third was the hot corner then."

What sort of hitter had he been? Does any true ball-player ever tire of telling what sort of hitter he was? Of the double that drove in the winning run?

But I thought immediately of one who claims to have been a player and a leaky-roof professional at that who held baseball in such contempt that he said he had no recollection of the game.

This interview took place in a murky, squalid office at the end of a long dark hall in a building near Union square, the communist headquarters of the United States and the editorial sanctum of the Daily Worker.

I interviewed all kinds. This day, 20 years ago, I dropped in on Earl Browder, to see what made him tick.

He has a mean, malignant expression. There was no warmth, even of hatred, in his eyes. Like George Creel when he interviewed Jess Willard and to crank him up asked him if he had ever had a dog, I asked Browder if he had ever played ball. Yes, back in Wichita.

What was the name of the club? He couldn't remember. The name of the league? Kansas-Nebraska, he thought, he wasn't sure. What did he play? Catch. How much? It varied; about $5 a game and train fare on a day coach.

What was his hitting average? He couldn't remember. Did he ever hit a home run? He couldn't remember that, either.

As I was leaving down the long, dark hall, William Z. Foster popped out a door. He had heard I was seeing him.

Spraying Spider's Victim Really Glued to Spot

To add fuel to the fire of wonderment, did you know that: The female nereis, a marine worm, dies in reproduction. In the moment of fertilization, she literally explodes, scattering her fertilized eggs in every direction.

A large elm may put forth seven million leaves a season whose total surface expanse amounts to more than five acres!

A fly can detect sugar in a dish in which there is only one part of sugar to a million parts of water. . . a solution so weak that there is no chemical means available to prove the presence of sugar.

The firefly has the largest number of facets in each eye. There are 4,600 of such tiny eyes, each with its own cornea and retina.

If the nest eggs are systematically removed, a pheasant may lay 100 eggs a year.

All spiders spin more than one kind of silk. The orb weavers, for example spin four kinds: One for ballooning through the air and for drag lines; another for cocoons; and two for two types of webbing—net silk and trapping silk, the latter covered with beads of a sticky fluid.

The temperature of a fruit on a tree, infected by fungus, rises one to two degrees over that of the rest of the tree.

It takes one hour to soft-boil an ostrich egg.

The largest living spider in the world is the Theraphosa lebonoi of western Africa whose legs span 10

ing Browder. He was affable. He liked my work. I was a bright fellow. What did I think of Browder?

"He is a dam liar," I said. "He says he played ball and then he proved he never did."

III Will Noted Between Bonn And Russians

By United Press
Diplomatic relations between West Germany and Soviet Russia are getting pretty chilly. The West German government does not like Russian Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin, who is one of the Kremlin's top-ranking subversion artists.

Russia is accusing West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Heinrich von Brentano, his foreign minister, of showing "patent ill-will" toward the Soviet Union.

There are reports from Moscow that Russia may make an attempt to patch up relations soon. But there is no indication that the attempt will get anywhere—especially with Zorin as envoy.

Trip Made
Adenauer went to Moscow last September to establish relations with Russia. He did so most reluctantly. But he wanted to get the Russians to free tens of thousands of Germans, soldiers and civilians, they had held ever since the end of World War II. He hoped also to speed up the reunification of Germany.

The agreement to establish relations was signed on Sept. 13. It was made clear right away that there was going to be no Soviet-West German love feast.

Adenauer, before he left Moscow, sent a letter to Soviet Premier Niko-lai A. Bulganin making two reservations to the agreement. He said he was entitled to speak for all Germans, not merely those of West Germany. He said also that the agreement did not imply the recognition of the present boundaries of Germany.

Rejection Made
Bulganin angrily rejected both reservations.

Next Russia named Zorin as its ambassador to Bonn, the West German capital.

This was a shock. Adenauer remembered Zorin as the man the Kremlin sent to Czechoslovakia to soften up that country for the communist coup of 1948 which made it a Soviet satellite.

Legal Action Eyed to Save Tomb Secret

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—British legal experts said today an American drama critic and his British associates would run the risk of prosecution if they opened a grave in an effort to prove that Shakespeare's plays were written by someone else.

The American is Calvin Hoffman, a New York who hopes to open a 17th century tomb to seek proof of his theory that Shakespeare's works were written by Christopher Marlowe. But legal sources said he faced a $28 fine or perhaps a jail sentence if he carried out his plan.

Hoffman hopes to open the tomb of Sir Thomas Walsingham, a 16th century patron of Marlowe.

Maj. John Marshall-Townsend, owner of the tomb, has given Hoffman permission to open it and has filed a petition to the government's consent.

The petition said that if the documents were not found in the tomb itself it might be necessary to open Sir Thomas' coffin. It asked the home secretary for the necessary exhumation order.

Train Crash Toll Announced at 41

BERLIN, Feb. 27 (AP)—The East German government announced today that nine more persons had died of injuries suffered in an east zone railroad wreck, bringing the death toll to 41 in the crash.

The disaster occurred Saturday when a freight train pulled by two locomotives smashed into a passenger express train taking visitors to the East German trade fair at Leipzig from Dresden.

The East German transport ministry said the crash was caused when the freight train ignored a stop signal in thick fog. The station master at Bornitz where the wreck occurred was arrested.

The average clerical office worker on the west coast got $64 a week in 1955.

Letting Ice Through

Upstream from Paris on the Marne river which joins the Seine close to the French capital, river engineers are lowering removable portions of the Saint Maurice dam to allow ice to flow downstream. Should too much ice collect, there would be a serious risk of floods when the thaw comes. Europe's death toll is more than 800 as a result of the cold wave. (NEA telephoto)

Mind-Disease Relationships Idea Is Boosted by 2 Cases

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The struggling science of psychosomatics has received a powerful boost from a noted British surgeon. In the case of two young women who were heil-bent (without knowing it) on getting their bodies mutilated under medical auspices, he successfully substituted mind-treatments for amputation.

Sir James Paterson Ross, professor of surgery at the medical school at world-famous St. Bartholomew's hospital (part of the University of London) and his colleague, Dr. Ida Macalpine detailed two startling examples of how the mind (psyche) gave the body (soma) such a convincing appearance of disease, experts were fooled.

Neither young woman gave evidence of mental trouble in the ordinary sense. The left forearm and hand of one was severely swollen. The skin was purplish-red and contained several deep ulcers. Sensation and movement were greatly diminished. The other young woman's right hand was swollen and reddish blue. She felt no sensation in it and couldn't move it. The fingers were rigidly contracted by paralysis.

They were sent by other physicians to Dr. Ross for a decision on amputation. Both "clamored for amputation." While he examined them, he noticed that they did not "anxiously watch the limb, like patients with organic disease" but watched him "with an expression as of a point scored."

Instead of amputating, he turned them over to Dr. Macalpine, who is associate chief assistant in psychiatry at St. Bartholomew's. The first young woman was cured after 18 psychiatric interviews in eight months; the second was physically cured after five interviews in 10 weeks, but she still needs psychiatric help. By cure is meant their hands became normal in appearance and function.

This is not the place to go into the intricate unconscious emotional forces which had produced symptoms that mimicked physical disease almost to a "T." The subject is so controversial the writer is constrained to remind the reader he is a reporter and in no way an advocate.

As a reporter, he can tell you that many medical scientists the world over find it difficult to accept the full implications of psychosomatic science. The dictum that every physical effect must have a physical cause has many an emphatic supporter.

The scientific report of Drs. Ross and Macalpine will have world-wide attention because of their standing and because it was published in the authoritative journal, "The Lancet." It gave chapter and verse to show that a few 19th century physicians recognized the young women's discase as of psychosomatic nature and one, Jean Martin Charcot, one of the greatest of neurologists, gave it a name—"blue edema of hysteria."

Kefauver Begins Corn Belt Stump

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 27 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver returned to the corn belt today in search of backing for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Tennesseean jumped off on a two-day campaign swing through Iowa.

In a Chicago stopover yesterday, he predicted the big issues in the coming presidential campaign will be agriculture and foreign policy.

He added that his opponent for the Democratic nomination, Adlai E. Stevenson has a strong slate entered in the New Hampshire primary, even though he is not an announced candidate in that race.

Soviet Police Stop, Search Fair Visitors

LEIPZIG, East Germany, Feb. 27 (AP)—Americans traveling to the East German trade fair reported today that Soviet police searched them for Communist marks not purchased under red-rigged exchange rates.

Communist police stopped American cars and searched the occupants as they headed to the fair.

East German marks are the legal currency at the fair and in the Soviet zone but only if purchased at the red-rigged rates of exchange. Under red-rigged rates, one dollar buys 2.22 East marks. On the free market in Berlin a dollar will buy between 18 and 19 East marks.

Most fair visitors stock up before leaving and the communist policemen in the past have overlooked this in the interest of East-West understanding. But they cracked down shortly after the start of this year's fair.

Cars Stopped

American travelers reported their cars were stopped by both Soviet checkpoint guards and by East German police. Their passports and visas were examined in detail and then they were ordered to turn over their wallets for police scrutiny.

If a search of wallets proved unsuccessful the visitors were searched to see if East marks were concealed on their person. One American had divested of 300 East marks he had purchased for $19. He was forced to spend two hours in a police waiting room before he could continue on his way to Leipzig.

37 Nations Represented

The fair opened yesterday with 37 nations of both the Communist and Western world represented. The West pavilion overshadowed the entire fairground with a high spire topped off with a red star and with big white statues of Joseph Stalin and V. I. Lenin.

But the West German display featuring a milk bottling machine was the most popular exhibit. Hundreds of persons gawked at the clanking machine wash, dry, fill and cap milk bottles.

Flu Epidemic Is Not Likely For U. S. Now

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—There's a pretty good chance now that the nation will get by without a major flu epidemic this winter.

Nothing certain, of course. But authorities said today that if the virus doesn't flare up in the next few weeks it isn't likely to do much damage at all.

This is frankly surprising. The experts had been expecting a real hard siege because influenza has a habit of breaking out every two or three years. And it's been three years now since the last epidemic.

Dr. C. C. Dauer of the U. S. public health service said there has been isolation of influenza A virus in Iowa and a probably one in New York.

Little Activity Noted

"But these isolations have not been accompanied by widespread severe respiratory illness," he said. "So far there apparently has been little virus activity."

Dauer explained that influenza A—the severe form of flu—usually strikes between October and March. If it strikes at all. After March, warm weather seems to put a check on the virus' activity.

"An outbreak is still possible between now and the end of March or so," Dauer said. "But it probably would be local or restricted to one region. The chances of a widespread epidemic, involving a large area of the country, seems to be remote at this late date."

Reasons Unknown

Just why the virus hasn't acted up this winter is a mystery to the experts. But they say it may crop up again in the fall.

The last big epidemic in this country was in the winter of 1952-53 when thousands of people, over large areas of the country, were laid low. There was no influenza in 1953-54. But during the winter a year ago there were localized outbreaks of influenza B—a similar but milder disease.

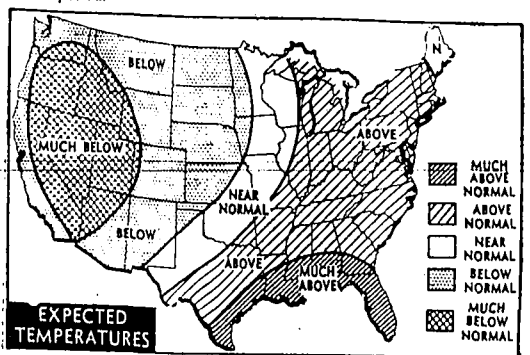

Influenza A can cause plenty of trouble. It usually starts with a sore throat and a fever and ends by sending a person to bed for days in complete misery.

NAMED COMMANDANT

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—Appointment of James Hanzel, Burley, as cadet commandant of the air force reserve officers training corps at University of Idaho was announced Saturday.

Winter's End

The weather maps below give you the U. S. weather bureau's long-range forecast until mid-March. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an estimate of average temperatures and rain or snowfall for the period.

Temperatures until mid-March will average below normal in the western half of the country. Above normal temperatures are predicted east of the Mississippi.

Precipitation until mid-March is expected to be subnormal in New England, the south Atlantic states and the southern plains. Above normal amounts are expected in the rest of the country. (NEA)

Mayor Who Contacted Soviets In Peace Bid Refuses to Quit

AURORA, Ill., Feb. 27 (AP)—Stormy Mayor Paul Egan snorted defiance today at a city council demand that he resign because of his hands-on-the-sea gesture to Soviet Russia.

"Monumental ignorance and stupidity," the bristling mayor said. "An absolute insult."

The council walked out on Egan yesterday after demanding that he quit because of his free-wheeling conduct at the national conference of mayors at Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 and 17.

The four commissioners also issued an apology to President Eisenhower, Civil Defense Director Val Peterson, and the 200 mayors attending the conference for Egan's "unwarranted action."

Egan created a stir at the Washington meeting by charging that he was told to "shut up" when he tried to question Peterson at a meeting on civil defense.

He followed this up by sending a letter to Anastas Mikoyan, deputy premier of the supreme Soviet, suggesting that 200 American mayors make a trip behind the iron curtain in search of peace.

"I believe the bells of the world should be tolled for the death of free speech in the United States of America," Egan wrote. "Would you and your associates pay for a meeting and good will tour through Russia of about 200 mayors?"

"We would fly to Moscow and throughout Russia to inspect your country and to see if we cannot sit down around a table and in an honest, sincere spirit of friendship, attempt to find out if there is some basis on which we can live and govern and conduct ourselves happily in this world."

Aurora's councilmen, by a unanimous 4-0 vote, said Egan's letter was "most degrading and insulting to the people of this city, state, and nation."

They demanded that Egan "resign immediately." When he refused to recognize the motion, the councilmen walked out to the accompaniment of boos from some of the packed crowd of 350 persons.

Egan said he had no intention of resigning and added he is acting "in good faith" in his attempt to do something about easing international tensions.

"I don't think I've gone off the deep end," he said. "The boys in Washington said they don't know what to do about it. At least this is an attempt to do something—and that's more than what they're trying to do."

"We've got to solve this thing before we get into a shooting war," he insisted, but added he has not yet received any answer from the Russians.

Survivors of Plane Smash Are Rescued

MADRID, Spain, Feb. 27 (AP)—A U. S. air force helicopter yesterday rescued the three survivors of an air force transport plane who spent two bitterly cold nights high in the mountains with the bodies of three of their comrades.

The C47 plane crashed this weekend on a flight from France to Getafe, Spain, and the wreckage was spotted by a helicopter. Two teams of air force paramedics dropped on the scene and spent Saturday night with the survivors.

The survivors were flown directly to the American military hospital in Madrid. All were conscious and were listed as in "satisfactory condition."

They were listed as Col. Claude A. P. Duffie, 38, York, Pa.; Sgt. William C. Smith, 30, Montgomery, Ala.; and Airman 1c Walter C. Schroeder, 22, Omaha, Neb.

The bodies of the victims were brought down from the 6,000-foot-high mountain by Spanish skiers. Two of them were listed as Maj. Shelton A. Brannon, Jr., Sulson, Ga., and Maj. John R. Francis, 31, Smyrna, Del.

Timing Bewailed

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Rev. Leslie John Bliss of St. Crispin, with Christ church complained today that too many ardent swains propose on Sunday night and consequently go to the preacher Monday about a wedding date.

"Monday is the clergyman's day off," Bliss said, "and we have no trade union to enforce it."

Three Are Killed By Home Inferno

EAST MEADOW, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—A mother and her two children died from burns and her son narrowly escaped death trying to save his younger sister today when fire swept their Long Island home.

Dead were Mrs. Madeline Kaye, 40, her daughters Gail 13, and Meredith, 6. A son, Joel, 15, who tried to rescue his sister Gail, saved his life by jumping from an attic window to the garage where he was found dazed.

Police said the father, Sidney, was in New York when the fire broke out early today.

The frame and brick Cape Cod house was destroyed.

The fire department found Gail's body while going through the house. Ruby Burkholder promptly called the fire department yesterday.

Fire trucks arrived, and a captain pounded on the neighbor's door. "Fire? There's no fire here," the startled housewife responded.

"Oh, my goodness!" she added sheepishly. "I was trying to get my husband out of bed and I finally yelled at him. The house is on fire, but I had no idea the neighbors could hear me."

POSTMASTER NOMINATED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower nominated Leo G. Huguenin Saturday to be postmaster at Mullan, Ida. The nomination was sent to the senate for confirmation.

Down, Lad

BRENTFORD, England, Feb. 27 (AP)—A British airman has been told to keep his wife's picture hidden during duty hours because it "might take the minds of air-men off their work."

Leading aircraftman Ted Collins was told to take his wife Maureen's picture off the wall at his base. She is a model and measures 34-24-38.

Neighbor Heeds Cries of Woman

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—Hearing the woman next door shout "the house is on fire!" Mrs. Ruby Burkholder promptly called the fire department yesterday.

Fire trucks arrived, and a captain pounded on the neighbor's door.

"Fire? There's no fire here," the startled housewife responded.

"Oh, my goodness!" she added sheepishly. "I was trying to get my husband out of bed and I finally yelled at him. The house is on fire, but I had no idea the neighbors could hear me."

Confederate Flag 'Bombing' Slated

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 27 (AP)—Disc jockey Allan English took off for Chicago today to drop 25,000 confederate battle flags over the windy city from a red, white and blue airplane.

English, a record-spinner for radio station WSUH in Oxford, Miss., left the airport here at 7:35 a.m. for his "air raid" in retaliation for a similar flight over Mississippi last week by a Chicago disc jockey.

The disc jockey, Al Benson, a Negro, dropped copies of the United States Constitution over Mississippi in protest of activities there directed against integration of the races in schools.

Jay-C-Ettes Set Plans for Party At Wendell Meet

WENDELL, Feb. 27.—Announcement of the Jay-C-Ette membership party to be held Wednesday at the Civic club rooms was made at the guest night-meeting Wednesday.

Committee members include: Mrs. Richard Eaton and Mrs. John Harms, entertainment; Mrs. Floyd Commons, Mrs. Marvin Johnson and Mrs. William Budd, decorating; and Mrs. J. Glen Anderson, Mrs. Merle Terry, Mrs. Mary Passmore and Mrs. William Higgenbotham, refreshments.

Final plans were made to serve the Rebekah lodge banquet March 3. Mrs. Higgenbotham, president, appointed Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Francis Ooble, dishes, and Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Mary Passmore and Mrs. Jerry Clapp, table setting. The remainder of the club will serve and clean up. Funds received from the dinner will be used for the Jay-C-Ette state project, handicapped children.

The nominating committee, Mrs. Floyd Commons and Mrs. Passmore, reported the nominees for office. Election will be held at the March 28 meeting.

A report of the hall cleaning committee was made. The kitchen walls will be given a general cleaning under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Johnson, chairman.

Material will be purchased for new curtains and tablecloths.

The Jay-C-Ette convention will be held April 19 through 21 in Pocatello. Members decided to have a money raising project in March to cover convention expenses.

A plastic party was held and Mrs. Anderson introduced the guests. They were Mrs. Lola Stephens and Mrs. Shirley Huck, Gooding; Mrs. Paul Anderson, Mrs. E. A. Taylor and Mrs. S. K. Bungum.

Quarter Reports Made by Society

HAGERMAN, Feb. 27.—Third quarter reports of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church were made out Wednesday afternoon at the executive board meeting of the society at the home of Mrs. Al Karloff, president.

It was decided the study, "Five Spiritual Classics," will begin March 8 and continue for four weeks with one and one-half classes. The course will meet on March 16, 22 and 29 and will be taught by Mrs. V. W. Carson.

Plans were made to attend the 12th annual meeting of the society March 6 in Rupert. Reservations must be in by Mrs. Carson by Feb. 26 for the local society.

Other recommendations will be made at the general meeting to be held March 14 at the home of Mrs. Robert Tupper.

Miss Middleton, Johnson Wed in Rituals at Home

BUHL, Feb. 27.—Vera Arlene Middleton, daughter of Mrs. Vera Middleton, and Leon Johnson, son of Mrs. Emma Johnson, Princeton, Ill., were married Wednesday evening in the bride's home, Buhl.

The Rev. Leonard Clark, Methodist minister, performed the double-ring ceremony before a background of lighted candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Clarence M. Will, wore a white fallie afternoon dress with an empire waistline and a matching bolero. Her corsage was pink shattered carnations and she wore a white feather hat.

Mrs. Ronald Alford, matron of honor, wore an afternoon dress of pale blue satin with pink accessories and a pink and white carnation corsage.

Jerry Sunderland was the best man. Clarence Middleton and Clarence Boatman were the candle lighters.

A reception in the Middleton home followed the wedding. Mrs. Donald Jensen was in charge of the guest book and display of gifts. Mrs. Reid Williams and Mrs. Clarence Boatman assisted with refreshments. The bride chose a turquoise blue suit for her wedding trip and wore high heels.

After their honeymoon trip, the couple will live in Mountain Home where the bridegroom is stationed with the air force.

The new Mrs. Johnson was graduated from Buhl high school and Johnson was graduated from Princeton, Ill., high school.

Pre-nuptial showers were given by Mrs. Ronald Alford and Isabel Thompson at the Alford home. Another shower was given by Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Boatman at the Middleton home.

Those attending the wedding were from Gooding, Twin Falls and Mountain Home.

Care of Your Children

"Mother, Mrs. Goodie gave Timmie and Dottie cookies, but she didn't give me any."

"Well, never mind. Here are two for you."

"But she did give them to Timmie and Dottie and didn't to me. Why didn't she give them to me, too?"

"I don't know, Spenny. People are funny sometimes and you can't say why they do things or don't do them. The best thing to do is just to be happy no matter how people treat you. Just be a good boy, be kind, and you'll have friends. Lots of them. Now go play and forget Mrs. Goodie."

Children have to learn that life is not like home all the time but holds people who do not like them as well as ones who do. They have to learn that the days bring hurts, disappointments and grief to offset the joys and triumphs they allow. They have to learn to stand up in the hard things when they come, for come they will.

Mother find this hard to take and do all they can to protect their children. They surround them with love and do all they can to soften the blows that life in school, on the playground, on the streets and in the neighbors' yards inflict. Children can always count on the healing comfort of home, but at the same time one must make certain that the child learns to shrug off the hurts and slights and disappointments and go ahead in strong spirit and personal pride.

Yes, I believe in personal pride that bids a child and a young person to like himself, to like what he has, what he is, and who he is. If he goes about the world feeling he is being discriminated against because he is homesick, poor, of another race or religion, he will be taken on his own estimate of himself and be allowed to stay there. Life is partial to the proud ones, for they have strength of spirit.

That is why I would not forbid fraternities. Let those who enjoy them belong to them, but let those who are left out let that fact slide off them as water off a duck's back. Who cares? The world is full of good people, full of groups to which one is welcomed. What the world asks of us all is that we be somebody in our own right—not one of a mass, but somebody proud of being so.

There will always be somebody handing a cookie to someone other than oneself. Let him. Instead of grieving about being left out, better mark out a road for oneself and follow it so well that the cookie-givers will soon be offering one. When they do, it is surprising how little one cares.

So, my children, when you are left out, just go to work and put yourself in, where you belong, in your own proud place. You can do it. Life is really impartial.

Governor's Wife Honored at Tea Given at Church

Women from the Twin Falls chapter of the Women of the Moose and guests from throughout Idaho attended a program and tea Saturday at the Christian church.

Mrs. Floyd Daise, deputy grand regent for WOTM, welcomed the group.

Mrs. Robert E. Smylie was introduced to the women.

Sharon Miller sang two solos, "Romance" and "The Lamp-lighter," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Nina Hamilton.

Mrs. J. Woodson Creed gave a book review on "Papa's Wife."

The women joined the men at 7 p. m. at St. Edward's school basement for a semi-formal banquet and ball.

Refreshments were served at the tea by Mrs. Chester Thomas, Mrs. Frank Powell, Boise, and Mrs. Daise.

Mrs. Shaw Holds Party for Women

RUPERT, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Lyman Shaw entertained friends Thursday morning with a surprise "galloping breakfast" at her home.

The women were not informed when the breakfast would be held and fines were assessed for those not attending or dressed up.

Those helping with the transportation were Mrs. Wendell Cole, Heyburn, Mrs. Elva Thomsen, Burley, Mrs. David Gouge and Mrs. Cecil Loeffler.

Mrs. Shaw served breakfast to those attending from a table decorated in the Washington birthday theme. Red hatchets of cardboard, cherry clusters and a piece of wood holding a hatchet were the features of the decorations.

The fines collected will be given to the Dorcas Welfare Society of the Seventh-Day Adventist church for help with the needy.

Upsets, Injuries Cause Upheavals For Cage Picture

By The Associated Press

A broken wrist, a defensive paradox, an old-fashioned shellacking and an upset have turned college basketball topsy-turvy as it enters its last full week in the regular season. The broken wrist, suffered by North Carolina State's Ron Shavlik, unfrocked State as favorite to win its third straight Atlantic Coast title. The conference championship now is up for grabs among State, North Carolina, Wake Forest and Duke in the 3-day tournament opening Thursday. The winner goes to the NCAA tournament.

Lopez Taking Steps to Balk Yankee Aims

By The Associated Press

Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians apparently has decided to give his team the "shake well" treatment in an effort to head-off treatment in the American league pennant chase this season.

He called his club together for a meeting Monday in its Tucson, Ariz., lair, and announced that Al Smith was the only player on hand who was certain of a job.

"And he doesn't have a set position," added Lopez. Smith, named "player of the year" by the Cleveland baseball writers last season, played six positions in 1955.

"The young fellows have just as much chance as anyone else of winning a place on the team," said Lopez. "One hustling young player sometimes can give the whole team a lift."

Meanwhile, the Yanks were having their troubles with holdouts. On their first day of spring training, they were faced with the problem of bringing a half-dozen of their front line pitchers into line. This is an unprecedented situation and it has the Bombers bristling.

Ace Whitey Ford heads the list. He and the club still are $5,000 apart. He wants $30,000 and has been offered $25,000. Others in the holdout brigade are Tom Morgan, Bob Grim, Jim Konstanty, Don Larsen and Mickey McDermott.

Billy Martin and Irv Noren said they are unsigned, but they are not due to report until Tuesday, so they aren't classified as holdouts.

In the National league, new manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants looked over his club on the first day of training and announced: 1. He would pattern his methods after those employed by Leo Durocher, his predecessor.

2. The Giants have as good a chance as anyone of winning the pennant, but...

3. The Brooklyn Dodgers "rate" the favorite's role.

Elsewhere around the camps: Boston Red Sox pitcher Mel Parnell, troubled with ailments the past two seasons, said he feels great and there's no reason why I shouldn't get 15 victories this year.

Milwaukee already has sold 13,000 tickets for its opener against Chicago April 17. Chicago White Sox manager Marty Marion said he is demanding that his pitchers and catchers be in top shape by March 1.

Chicago Cubs already being plagued by a rash of minor injuries. Brooklyn World Series hero Johnny Podres said he has no idea when he'll be inducted into the service.

Denver Takes 18th Straight Ski Victory

WINTER PARK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Smooth skiing Denver university dominated the jumping and slalom events in the Rocky Mountain Regional meet Sunday to rack up its 18th straight meet victory.

Denver's Peter Pytte won the jumping and teammates John Cross, Al Vinclette and Harold Riber grabbed the next three places in that order.

Henning Arstøl of Denver copped the slalom with Jerry McClellan of the Pioneers the No. 2 man.

Denver wound up with 590.47 points to far outdistance runnerup Utah's 541.81. Colorado finished third at 540.38, Western State fourth with 534.89 and Wyoming fifth with 499.23.

Other team scores were Colorado: Mines 441.34, Colorado A and M 340.29 and Idaho State 322.27.

The top five finishers earned berths in the NCAA championships here March 23-25. Denver is the defending national titlist.

Teams Complete Intramural Cage Season in Twin Falls

Seventy Twin Falls high school and junior high school intramural basketball teams ended their seasons last week after completing league play and tournaments. Henry O. Powers, director of athletics, was in charge of the program.

In the high school, a 10-team class B league and an 8-team class C league competed. All leagues played round robin series and a single elimination tournament was held in each league.

Eighty boys participated in the class A league and 65 boys took part in B league play.

The class A teams and their regular season win-and-loss records: 12-2, Pioneers 9-0, Drovers 7-2, Nationals 7-2, Panthers 4-5, Olympians 4-5, Falcons 2-7, Conifers 1-8.

The DFC team won the tournament by beating the Dribblers in the final game 30-24.

In the high school B league, the 6-1, Crusaders 5-1, Pushovers 4-2, Gauchos 4-2, Embyros 3-4, Jels 4-5, Dazzlers 1-8 and PFA "B" 0-0.

The Crusaders five team won over the Pushovers 27-23 in the tournament final. Harold Brown served as supervisor of the high school program.

Take State Rifle Titles at Meet Here

Ernie Kral, Buhl, and Richard Murphy, Twin Falls, display the trophies they won in the two-day state championship gallery rifle tournament here. Kral scored 1,158 out of a possible 1,200 to win the Idaho resident championship. Murphy, a Twin Falls high school senior, fired 1,147 for the junior title. (Staff photo-enlarging)

Writer Analyzes Santee-AAU Case Amid Charges and Counter Charges

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Was the Amateur Athletic Union justified in barring Wes Santee, America's best miler, for life?

Will the courts uphold Santee's argument that the AAU committee which barred him acted in an illegal manner?

Will he finally get into the Olympic games?

Did he actually accept $1,500 in "overage" as charged?

In the past week, Santee's name has become almost a household word, and the AAU's decision to suspend him forever even has split the organization itself.

Charges and counter charges have flown in all directions, so this is a good time to take a long, cool look at the matter. Before going into the case, it should be stated that the writer has no axes to grind. He has no close friends in the AAU, nor is he particularly close to Santee.

The AAU found Santee guilty of collecting about $1,500 "overage" in expenses in seven meets last year. He participated in 22. The other 15 expense accounts apparently satisfied the AAU. Pinky Sober, chairman of the track and field committee and an attorney, collected the evidence which "hung" Santee. He had six assistants, but he did most of the work.

Now, the AAU does not initiate investigations of this sort. Some one blew the whistle on Santee, so his district association, the Missouri Valley, looked into the matter. It found him guilty and suspended him. But the Missouri Valley board of managers, a higher authority, cleared him a short while later.

Here, then, is one of the main points in dispute. Why did the AAU go after Santee? Down through the years, track stars have been padding their expense accounts and the AAU must have been aware of it.

Sober went at his task with diligence. He said he was not out "to get" Santee.

"In fact," said Sober, "he had every chance to clear himself. We bent over backward to help him. For example, we gave him a full day's credit for an admitted part-day trip. We computed his expenses at $12 per day rather than the $12 allowable rate which was in effect at the time of the meets in question. Ours was a painful duty because we all like Wes."

"But we had a job to do and too many questions were left unanswered or unexplained."

The writer thinks the executive committee was unduly rough on Santee in setting him down for life, although there seems to be no doubt that Wes was in the wrong.

That Santee deserved some penalty, there is no denying. But a three-month suspension would seem to be more in line when you take into consideration that this is an Olympic year.

Santee was our No. 1 hope for the 1,500 meters in the Olympics. And make no mistake—the games will be another propaganda battle between the United States and Russia, the same as the winter games.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—An explosive fire Sunday damaged a section of Minneapolis' stylish new baseball stadium, a multi-million dollar structure being built in suburban Bloomington.

Officials said the blaze was cut short just in time to avoid orphaning the Minneapolis Millers of the American association. Vice Chairman William Boyer of the governing Metropolitan Sports Area commission said the club's scheduled April 24 opener will not be affected.

Commission members met with insurance investigators Monday to assess the loss. Construction began last spring after a private bond subscription campaign. Some $4 million dollars already had been subscribed.

The flames, set off by exploding butane gas, swept through the basement under the third base stands. Two watchmen were burned, neither seriously.

Boyer said 45 feet of the 430-foot stadium was damaged, representing 900 seats.

Schmidt Win Nets Reaction Of Tennis Unit

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Young Ulf Schmidt's surprising victory in the National Indoor championships, emphasizing the sad state of American tennis, brought mixed reactions Monday from the brass of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association.

"This makes it clear we have to ditch our old timers and concentrate on young men," said Renville McManis, new president of the USLTA. "We have to build again from the bottom."

Bill Talbert, captain of the U. S. Davis Cup team, took a less pessimistic viewpoint.

"We can't be impressed by what happens indoors," he said. "The Swedes and other Scandinavians do well on hard wood because they play indoors ten months out of the year. But the tables always turn when you shift outdoors."

America's proud Davis Cup stars watched Sunday at the 7th Regiment Armory as Schmidt, a 22-year-old Stockholm toy importer, smash the favored Sven Davidson, also of Sweden, in the indoor final, 6-1, 6-3, 8-10, 6-3.

Max Matles of Newton Falls, O., will get his third letter for playing basketball at Cornell after the season closes.

Washington Rifleman Fires 1,158 to Take State Matches

Phil Schumaker, Spokane, won the Idaho state gallery rifle championship Sunday, topping a field of 152 tournament contestants with a score of 1,158 out of a possible 1,200. Idaho's new resident champion is Ernie Kral, Buhl, who scored 1,156.

Schumaker posted his winning score on the Spokane range where the northern division of the tournament was held under the sponsorship of the Coeur d'Alene Rifle club. Kral's prize-winning performance was turned in on the Twin Falls rifle club range where the southern division of the tournament was held.

Fifty shooters competed on the Twin Falls range and 102 were entered in the northern division.

June Jurrell Boise, won the state women's championship by scoring 1,128 at Twin Falls in the northern division. Ronald Vos, Spokane, was the high junior shooter with iron sights, tallying a 1,123 score and a Spokane team consisting of H. Trumbo, G. Conners, A. Biesen and M. Gettys shot a 1,555 to win the state team championship.

The resident team championship was won by the Twin Falls Silver team. Scoring for the Twin Falls team were Joe Seaver 385, Frank Jenkins 388, Grant Sanborn 379 and Richard Murphy 381 for a 1,533 total.

George Edwards, Pocatello, shot a 1,132 to win top sharpshooter honors and Dale Wood, Spokane, topped the expert class. Wayne Grissler, Spokane, was champion in the marksman division with 1,094.

Edwards won his sharpshooter championship by having a better offhand score than did Karl Detton, Burley, who equaled the winning aggregate score with a 1,132. Both men competed at Twin Falls.

Richard Murphy, Twin Falls, posted the high junior score of the tournament, a 1,147. The southern division master class was won by Karl Kenyon, Ruth, Nev., who shot a 1,149 using a rifle he had built himself. Frank Jenkins, Twin Falls, was second in the master bracket with a 1,145.

One of the top individual performances of the tournament was turned in by Mrs. Eva Rosa, Twin Falls. In a prone position match she hit 20 bullseyes during the match and then went on to hit 13 more before finally placing a shot outside the 10-ring.

Winning the southern division expert's championship was Donald Hinz, Caldwell, with a 1,142 and Greg Belcher, Twin Falls, was second with a 1,140. Glen Christensen, Shelley, won top honors in the southern division in the marksman class with a score of 1,031. Second place was won by Doyle McKee, Filer, with a 1,017.

Each division was kept posted on the other division's scores by an amateur radio hook-up. Chairman of the southern division tournament was Grant Sanborn.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27 (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias will receive the 1955 Brith Shalom National Sports award Monday night at the fraternal order's annual banquet.

Regarded as one of the greatest women athletes of all time, Zaharias is three-time winner of the National Women's Open Golf tournament and a former Olympic champion.

Officials said the blaze was cut short just in time to avoid orphaning the Minneapolis Millers of the American association. Vice Chairman William Boyer of the governing Metropolitan Sports Area commission said the club's scheduled April 24 opener will not be affected.

Commission members met with insurance investigators Monday to assess the loss. Construction began last spring after a private bond subscription campaign. Some $4 million dollars already had been subscribed.

Strikeout

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—The reddest of the red faces in Tigertown Monday was worn by Coach Joe Gordon, one of the all-time great second basemen of the American league. The sum wasn't to blame either.

Joe put himself in to pinch hit with his Black Sox trailing 1-4 in Sunday's Tigertown rookie game. And Ronnie Rozman, a former pitcher for Detroit's Catholic Central high school, struck Gordon out.

Rozman pitched three innings of scoreless baseball and allowed only one hit.

Flock Collects Second Crown In Car Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Atlanta daredevil Tim Flock received the prize money from his second consecutive Grand National Stock Car championship today, but some of the glory went to Ralph Moody, who didn't let a roll-over stop him from taking third.

Flock, 31-year-old father of five children, gunned a 1956 Chrysler 300B through driving rains and wind-whipped sand over the beach and asphalt course yesterday to win the 160-mile race with an average speed of 89.16 miles per hour.

Flock won the 160-mile championship in 1955 and placed first in the 125-mile modified stock car race two days ago. The races are sponsored annually by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

Yesterday, Flock zoomed into the lead from his pole position during the first lap and only relinquished first place when he stopped a few minutes in the 23rd lap to refuel.

Flock finished 67 seconds ahead of second-place Billy Meyers of Germantown, N. C., driving a 1958 Mercury.

But Moody, from Dana, Fla., got the biggest hand from some 32,000 spectators when he roared over the finish line in his battered 1956 Ford to take third a lap and 10 seconds behind Meyers.

Moody, 36, ran into trouble on the 26th lap and his car rolled over, but landed on its wheels. Moody kept going despite a smashed-in hood and broken windshield.

California Sports Figure Dies at 60

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 (AP)—William (Bill) Smith, who recently retired from the California state athletic commission on which he served for 22 years, has died of a heart attack. It was disclosed today.

Smith, who was a newspaperman with the old Los Angeles Herald and Los Angeles Express before joining the commission, died at his home here Saturday night. He was 70.

He was also secretary of the Boxers and Wrestlers Fund of Southern California, a group established to pay medical bills for athletes injured in training or in the ring.
